What is the Aegon Platform?

A platform is a service that lets investors buy, sell and hold products and investments online all in one place.

Most have a degree of flexibility that allows your financial adviser to change your products and investments as your needs change, generally without you having to pay additional charges when they buy and sell on your behalf.

The Aegon Platform gives you a seamless transition from saving to taking an income, and by keeping all your savings in one place, you get a clear view of what you have. Because we recognise that things can change, the Aegon Platform is flexible enough to allow you to change your mind to help you get the outcome you want.

The value of an investment can fall as well as rise and isn't guaranteed. You could get back less than you invest.

What are the benefits of a platform?

Many people have various different savings – such as individual savings accounts (ISAs), pensions, savings accounts, unit trusts and various other investments with a number of different providers. A platform allows you and your financial adviser to bring all those different investments together.

There are many benefits to investing on the Aegon Platform:

- You can bring savings together in one place, giving you a single view, even if they aren't with us.
- The more you save with us, the lower the rate of platform charge could be across each product.
- Minimal paperwork for you and your adviser.
- Online management makes it easily accessible and gives you more control.
- You can see how your savings are performing, anytime, no matter where you are.
- You and your financial adviser can decide how much control you want to have.

Bringing savings together (consolidating) may not be the best option for you. It's up to you to decide if this is the right decision for you so make sure you compare products before consolidating. If you're not sure, speak to a financial adviser – there may be a charge for this.

We've designed the Aegon Platform to support your financial adviser, and have provided tools to support them and help them to save time, so they have more time to manage your savings.

The Aegon Platform makes it easier to plan for the future, as you and your financial adviser can look at your savings as a whole and plan multiple goals, or work out the gaps you need to fill to secure the future you want. On our platform, you and your adviser can do all your financial planning, and can move money from one product to another if your needs change.

Planning your future

Broadly, there are two stages to planning your future savings.

The Aegon Platform supports you through both stages, so everything you need is in one place.

1. Growing your savings

It can help you build up enough savings towards the retirement you deserve.

2. Accessing your savings

It helps you access your savings, and lets you change it if you need to.

Growth, income, or both?

Depending on what stage of life you're at, you'll have very different savings needs.

Whatever stage you're at, or whatever your needs, we can help you to get the outcome you need. Below are the sorts of questions you might ask yourself at each stage.

Growing your savings

- How much will I need to save to live the lifestyle I want?
- What's the best way to grow my savings to achieve my goals?
- Will I have to pay any tax charges?
- How will I be able to access my savings?
- What's the easiest way to keep track of everything?

Accessing your savings

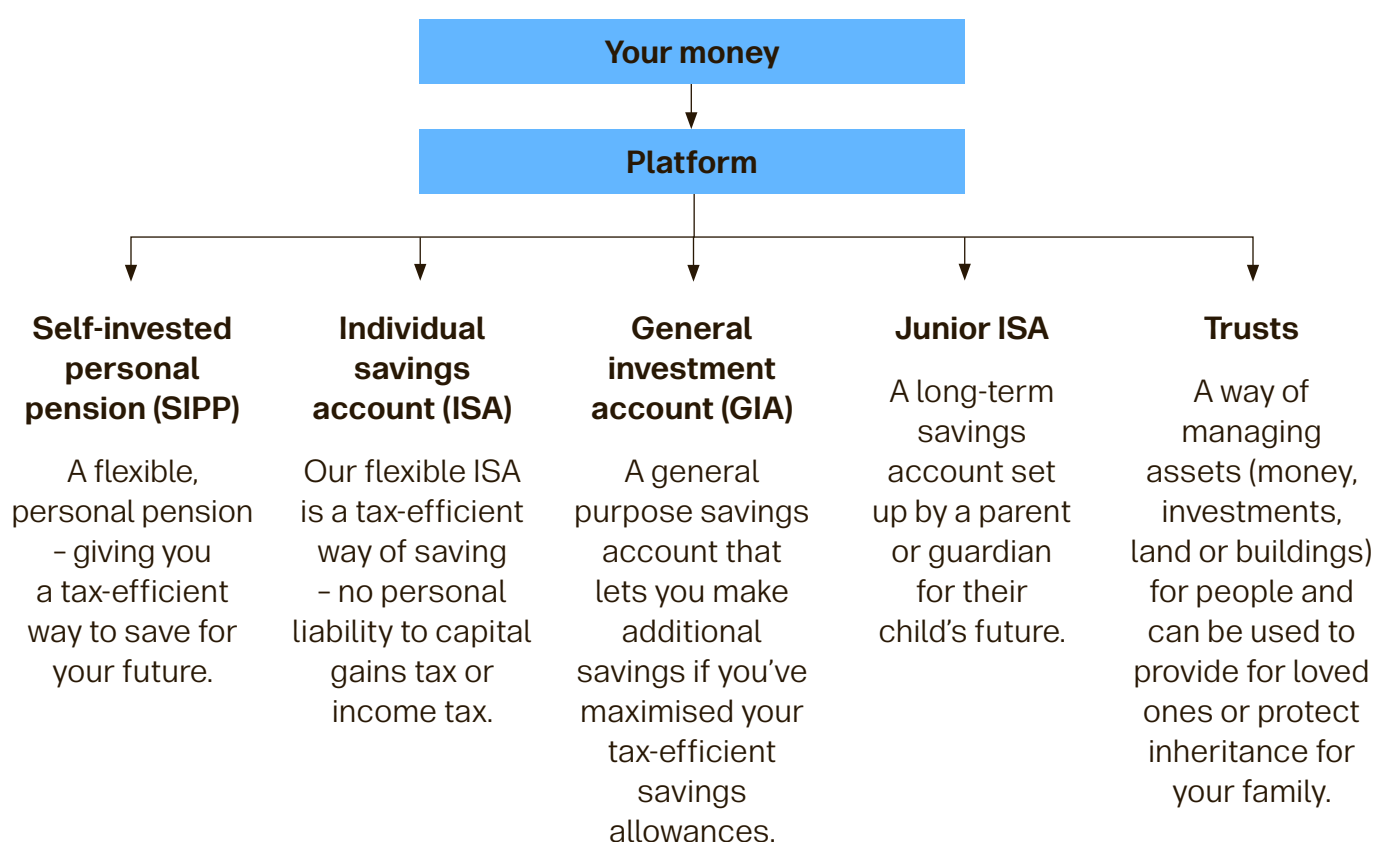

- What are my options?
- Will my savings last until I die?
- How can I access my savings if I need to?
- What will the tax implications be?
- Do I have a choice who I leave my money to when I die?

Choosing products

Achieving the goals you've set will be dependent on two important factors - having the right product and the right investment solutions.

Access a range of products

With the Aegon Platform, you can invest your money in a range of different ways. Each product has different benefits and is designed for different types of savings, so there's something for every situation you may find yourself in. Each of our products have different tax rules and allowances, but your financial adviser will talk you through which options are right for you.

Our products are designed to complement each other, with the aim to help you make the most of your money and achieve your financial goals.

The value of any of the products above can fall as well as rise, isn't guaranteed and you may get back less than you invest.

Although the GIA and ISAs have no fixed term, you should be prepared to hold the product for at least five years, ideally longer. The value of any tax relief or benefits will depend on individual circumstances.

All references to taxation are based on our understanding of current taxation law and HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) practice, which may change.

Family-friendly investing

As people start to live longer, there may be times when you need your money to work harder to support your family. And that's where our Junior ISA and trust products come in.

Junior ISA

A Junior ISA is a tax-efficient way to save for a child's future, whether that's university fees, a first car or getting onto the property ladder. You can start saving into a Junior ISA as soon as a child is born, and they can't access the money until they're 18. So it's a great way to prepare for the future and can help you teach them about the benefits of saving.

Help build a solid financial future for them

We all know saving can be difficult as we get older and as life throws us different challenges. By encouraging regular saving early on in a child's life, you're setting a good example and you can feel assured that you're contributing to a more secure financial future for them. And, with no personal income tax or capital gains tax on the income and growth, the money you put away could grow even faster.

Get other family members involved

Junior ISAs aren't just for parents with expendable income. Family members can also contribute, making the Junior ISA a great alternative to outright gifts – especially for children at a young age. Visit gov.uk/junior-individual-savings-accounts to find out more about the yearly allowance.

Our Junior stocks and shares ISA automatically transfers to an Aegon stocks and shares ISA once the child turns 18. And should you wish, the child can manage the account when they turn 16 – although they must be 18 to withdraw any money.

Trusts

Setting up an asset (money, investments, land or buildings) in trust or transferring existing assets into trust can be used as a key tool for the management of capital gains and inheritance tax (IHT) planning.

Although you may often associate trusts with the very wealthy, you can use trust planning in many different situations and trusts can help you protect and, in some circumstances, manage your assets tax-efficiently.

Whether you're looking to provide for loved ones, protect an inheritance for your family, or provide for elderly relatives, our range of trusts can help you achieve your financial planning goals.

What trusts are for

Trusts are set up for a number of reasons, including:

- To control and protect family assets.
- When someone's too young to handle their affairs.
- When someone can't handle their affairs because they're incapacitated.
- To pass on assets while you're still alive.
- To pass on assets when you die (a 'will trust').
- Where a minor is a beneficiary, under the rules of intestacy (if someone dies without a will), the assets are held in a statutory trust.

What does a trust offer?

- Makes sure those that matter to you can access the asset without needing to get probate first.
- Encourages inheritance tax savings, meaning you can pass on as much of your estate as possible.
- Makes sure the people you want to benefit from your savings do.

Trusts establish legal rights and entitlements and might have material financial and tax implications for the settlor, trustees and beneficiaries. We aren't authorised to provide legal advice, so you should seek legal advice before setting up a trust, to make sure that it meets your requirements. Our trusts have been drafted for use by UK-domiciled individuals only.

This information is based on our understanding of current taxation law and HMRC practice, which may change.

The value of any tax relief will depend on individual circumstances.

Combine your pensions

We can help you take control of your pensions by combining them into one pot.

Many of us are switching jobs several times in our lives. This means that our pension pots are often scattered about, which can make it hard to get a complete picture of our pension savings, or how on track we are for retirement. Moving your pension savings into one pot, in one place, can help you take control.

Why consider combining your pensions?

Fewer charges – multiple pensions could mean you're paying multiple charges. By combining into one pot means one set of charges – making it easier to see what charges you're paying and potentially save money.

Control – one pension rather than multiple pensions means one yearly statement and a clear view of your retirement savings.

It's free – we won't charge you any transfer or set-up fees for transferring your other pensions to us. Your previous pension provider may charge an exit fee when you transfer.

Is it right for you?

Transferring a pension may not be the best option for you. You may lose features, protections, guarantees or other benefits – so make sure you compare products before transferring. It's up to you to decide if this is the right decision for you. If you're not sure, speak to an adviser – there may be a charge for this.

It's important to remember the value of your consolidated pension pot can still fall as well as rise and the final value of your pension pot when you come to take benefits may be less than has been paid in.

Any new investment funds you move your pension pots into will have their own set of risks that will be detailed in the fund information available to you.

¹ Transaction fees, a platform charge and adviser charges (where applicable) will also apply.

Taking an income in retirement

Many people now choose a more gradual transition from working life into retirement, and our products support a flexible, phased approach from saving to taking an income.

You can use your SIPP to take an income when you finally want to use your savings. HMRC rules mean that you must be 55 before you can take benefits from your SIPP (increasing to age 57 on 6 April 2028). You may be able to take benefits earlier than this in certain circumstances.

Our SIPP has a few different options available when you finally want to access your pension pot. We've provided an overview below – the different options come with different conditions. When the time comes, your adviser can help you decide which options are right for you and explain any tax implications.

Take a cash lump sum

Take your entire pension pot as a cash lump-sum or take a series of lump sums as and when you need to. If you choose this option, typically 25% of the lump sum will be tax free and the rest will be taxed as income. This type of payment is called an uncrystallised funds pension lump sum.

Take a small pot payment

If you have a pension pot of £10,000 or less, you can take this as a cash lump-sum under the small pot payment rules. As with other lump sum payments, you'll receive 25% tax free from each small pot, with the remaining 75% subject to income tax. You can take a maximum of three payments from contract-based pension arrangements (such as group personal pensions) over your lifetime.

Take flexi-access drawdown

You can ask for some or all your pension pot to be used for flexi-access drawdown. Usually, 25% of the pot used for flexi-access drawdown will be paid as tax-free cash with the rest remaining invested (no further tax-free cash can be taken from the drawdown fund). You can then take a regular income or one-off payments from the drawdown fund – these payments are taxed as income. You can read more about flexi-access drawdown on the next page.

Buy a lifetime annuity²

You can take up to 25% of your pension pot as tax-free cash, then use the balance to buy an annuity that pays you a guaranteed income for life – giving you the security of knowing exactly what you'll receive.

We don't offer annuities so please speak to your adviser for more information, or visit moneyhelper.org.uk/en/pensions-and-retirement/taking-your-pension/guaranteed-retirement-income-annuities-explained

² As annuity rates can change substantially and rapidly, there's no guarantee that if you do buy an annuity the rates at the time will be favourable. This could mean that your annuity income thereafter may be less than you hoped for.

Investing in retirement

If you decide to stay invested in retirement, by opting for flexi-access drawdown we can help you achieve the retirement income you need.

Flexi-access drawdown

Flexi-access drawdown lets you take an income from your pension pot, leaving the rest invested, so you can continue to benefit from potential investment growth. Plus, as there's no limit to the amount you can take through flexi-access drawdown (apart from the size of your drawdown fund), it offers more flexibility than an annuity.

However, drawing income will reduce the value of your pot and you'll need to take on some investment risk, which means the value of your savings could fall as well as rise and could run out too soon.

Please note, there's no guarantee the investments will meet their objectives. The value of an investment, and any income you take from it, can fall as well as rise and isn't guaranteed. You could get back less than has been paid in.
