

Spotlight on tele-claims

If your personal circumstances mean you need any additional support, or if you'd like a large print, Braille or audio CD version of this document, please call 03456 00 14 02 (call charges will vary) or visit aegon.co.uk/onlineform

We take a closer look at tele-claims, letting you submit a claim without the need to complete lengthy paperwork.

Being diagnosed with a critical or terminal illness can be a very stressful and difficult time.

Our tele-claims service helps to make this time as hassle-free as possible by allowing you to complete a critical illness or terminal illness claim over the phone, rather than filling in and returning paper forms.

How does it work?

We'll allocate one assessor to help you with your claim – so you'll deal with the same person throughout the claims process. If you need to call us for any reason, you'll know who to ask for.

Your assessor will arrange a call time that suits you, so they can gather your claim information. When they call you they'll only ask the essential questions, to make sure there's enough information for them to progress your claim.

They'll also ask you to send in any copies of medical information or reports that you have, by post or email, as it will help to speed up the claims process. It may also mean that we won't need to approach your doctor or specialist for any additional information.

They'll clearly answer any questions that you have and let you know what the next steps are in the claims process.

What happens next?

If there's any remaining information to collect, we'll contact your doctor or specialist.

We'll keep you up to date with how we're progressing with your claim and let you know the outcome once we've completed our assessment.

'The benefit of telephone support for completing the claim form is immeasurable for people dealing with a challenging situation.'

Key statistics

Our tele-claims service has been assisting claimants since 2010.

Most of our customers choose the tele-claims approach to complete a critical illness claim.

Tele-claims calls for a critical illness or terminal illness can take about 25 minutes to complete. Claims for other benefits can take about 30 minutes.

We paid 93% of critical illness protection claims in 2022.

How long does it take to complete a claims assessment?

It can take between three and seven weeks to complete the whole claims assessment and make the payment.

Some claims may take longer if there's a delay in getting medical information from your specialist, or if they're still doing tests or investigating your condition.

Support for you and your family

All of our protection customers, and their immediate families, have access to Policy Plus - our range of services that offer support and guidance, whenever you need it. Policy Plus is available throughout the life of your policy for no additional cost, and offers support through tough times. Visit our support page to find out more.

'The service was excellent. Straightforward, clearly explained and empathetic.'
