Underwriting limits guide

Underwriting limits

Our financial and medical underwriting limits are among the highest in the market and our routine medical evidence limits are extremely competitive.

The limits below are a guide to the minimum medical and financial evidence that we'll ask for. When we receive an application, or any medical or financial evidence, we'll let you know if we need anything else. We may change these requirements and limits at any time.

Throughout this section, we use the following abbreviations. The notes apply to all the benefits.

GPR – General practitioner's report

MIN – Mini-screening

NSE – Nurse screening examination

MER – Doctor medical examination

NFB – Non-fasting blood test

NFL – Non-fasting lipids

XCG – Exercise ECG

IPS – Income protection nurse screening

PSA – Prostate specific antigen (males only)

COT (NS) – Cotinine test for non-smokers

HIV – Human immunodeficiency virus (HIV)

- If separate life protection and critical illness (CI)/total permanent disability (TPD) benefits are selected, we'll need medical evidence based on the total CI/TPD amount.
- We'll need HIV tests for all life and CI including TPD applications where the benefit amount is more than £1.5 million and the insured person is under age 60.
- For life protection cases over £10 million, please refer to our underwriters.
- For family income benefit, the benefit amount used for medical evidence requirements is calculated as follows: $\text{yearly benefit} \times \text{term} \times 0.67$.
